2. PENANG CARGO TEMINAL EXPANSION.

The Penang International Airport is the third busiest airport in the country with a capacity of 6.5 million passengers per annum currently. Last year, it recorded 4.27 million passengers per annum even though the country's borders reopened in April. This showed that there is a trend of increasing numbers of passengers at the PIA so there is an urgent need for the expansion.

The last time the PIA was upgraded was back in 2009 and it was completed in 2013.

The expansion project will be able to increase the capacity of passenger arrivals from 6.5 million to 12 million passengers per annum.

3. AIRFREIGHT RATE

The rise in interest rates worldwide impacted business expansion plans and demand for consumer electronic products.

E&E components, comprising over 70% of the cargo exported and imported would continue playing an essential role in driving up the volume of freight handled in Malaysia.

Depending on the destinations, the current air freight rates from Malaysia to Asian, the United States and Europe has normalised.

There's now sufficient air cargo capacity; so the price has dropped.
